Seems like this road
Goes on forever
It's been a lifetime,
That I've been gone
My hair has turned
To grey from brown
That rainbows end
I never found

Yes it's true I chased the stars
And I drifted, oh so far...
Far from my friends
And my loved ones
My life now in the setting sun

And as I draw my dying breath
I can see my mother's face
Her tears they fall like rain
For a man who fell from grace

Now all that's left is the cornerstone
Of the place I once called home
Mother, and father lying
In their graves
Their son's return
Was far too late

And as I draw my dying breath
I can see my mother's face
Her tears they fall like rain
For a lifetime lost
A soul in flames...
