Like a bird needs the air
Like a flower needs the earth to care
I need you.
Like the sun needs the moon
Like an orphan needs an extra room
I need you.

Come on baby, let's fly away
To higher skies and watch the world go by.
It'll just be you and I.
And when the storms come sailing high
I'll take your hand and collide it with mine
And everything will feel so right.

And like the stars need the sky
Like a hello always has goodbye
I need you.
And like a child needs your touch
I don't think I'm asking too much
To be with you.

Come on baby, let's fly away
To higher skies and watch the world go by.
It'll just be you and I.
And when the storms come sailing high
I'll take your hand and collide it with mine
And everything will feel so right.

And nobody said that love was easy
But nobody said it'd be this hard
And I should've known from the beginning
Oh that missing you is the hardest thing to do.

So come on baby, let's fly away
To higher skies and watch the world go by.
It'll just be you and I.
It's too late, honey, to say goodbye
So take my hand and let's enjoy this ride.
Cause everything is oh, so right.

Like the sea needs the sand
My hand is desperate for you hand.
