

Tyler Read

"The Saltwater Redemption (Loose Lips Sink Ships)"

Visit "The Saltwater Redemption \(Loose Lips Sink Ships\)" on MotoLyrics.com

I am writing this like my life depends on it
A governor's pardon called in the last second My hands are bound and tied My eyes are open wide

I am writing this as fast as I can
A governor's pardon for my transgressions
And we will serve our time
We'll make it out alright

Loose lips can sink these ships Were drowning under water resolved to all our loss Keep together we swim to shore together Not drowning in the water where were numb but were not comfortable at all.

And we will make it out.

The blue and black the blushing ink, the crimes commit against the king, the lies that spin the shuffling, the pounding pulses quickening...
Evangeline! The incident. The apparition instrument, the southern cross, the map that meant, to lead us out of the places that we've been

Maybe I should have swam, maybe I should have tried, maybe I should have kept this in disguise, maybe I should believe in what you said

Visit Tyler Read page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.