What's your greatest fear, dear
Are you happy here

What's your greatest fear, dear
Is it holding on too tight to what you always thought was right Do you want to steer clear of the truth behind your lies It's time to open up your eyes

You say you're working on the cause of our displeasure
But are we too deep in it now to stay together
We are broken by the search to make this better
Torn and blinded by the lies of instant pleasure

I think we're almost repaired and if I have got this right
We need to modify our lives
Will you follow me there Take a trip into the light to the sun up in the night

You say you're working on
the cause of our displeasure
But are we too deep in it now to stay together
We are broken by the search to make this better
Torn and blinded by the lies of instant pleasure

You say you're working on
the cause of our displeasure
But are we too deep in it now to stay together

This bridge I'm crossing Will end up costing Me fears that never sleep
They never sleep

You say you're working on
the cause of our displeasure
But are we too deep in it now to stay together

We are broken by the search to make this better
Torn and blinded by the lies of instant pleasure
