ELLINDUR BÃ“NDI Ã JAÐRI

Faroese

Ellindur bÃ³ndi Ãi jaðri eystur
FlestÃ, ll munnu hann muna
Hann var so vÃ!l til barna komin
TrÃatti Ãitti hann synir

Her er gott at dansa

Ellindur stendur Ãi hallargÃlvi
Eingin talar orÃ
Hann skeyt fyri sÃn riddaraskjÃldur
NiÃast viÃ konsins borÃ

Her er gott at dansa

Stovan honn er nÃ½ggj
Stokkar eru av stÃili gjÃrdir
Og tekjan er av blÃ½ggj
Her er gott at dansa

Egg havi upp viÃ skatti aliÃ
TrÃati synir baldar
LÃviÃ mÃtt og gÃsiÃ alt
TaÃ er Ã tygara valdi

Her er gott at dansa

Fimtán skulu eftir vera
BÃ³ndi, av synum tÃnum
AnnaÃslÃkt skal aftur fara
Og gleÃa mÃur sÃna

Her er gott at dansa

Stovan honn er nÃ½ggj
Stokkar eru av stÃili gjÃrdir
Og tekjan era av blÃ½ggj
Her er got at dansa

English
Ellindur farmer east on Jaðri
Most people may remember him
He had so many children
He had thirty sons

It's good to dance here

Ellindur stands in the hall
Nobody says a word
He threw his knight shield
Down by the kings table

It's good to dance here

The hall is new
The beams are made of steel
The roof is of lead
It's good to dance here

With tax I have raised here
Thirty bold sons
My life and my estates
I leave in your command

It's good to dance here

Fifteen shall remain
Farmer, of your sons
The same amount shall return
And make their mother happy

It's good to dance here

The hall is new
And the roof is of lead
