Sounds of silence never lasts
This home's under attack
I fight the tears but I can't hold back
I watch it fall apart
I'm slipping through the cracks
Can someone tell me what I'm fighting for

It takes more than words to win this war when there's no one left to hear
And it takes more than words to win this war when there's no one left who cares

Trust was broken with a kiss
This lying won't be missed
I've tried so hard but I can't forget
I watched it fall apart
Now there's nothing left to fix
Can someone tell me what I'm fighting for

And it takes more than words to win this war when

I can't stay in this house of lies
I can't change this to make things right
I can't wait when we're out of time
I can't stay here tonight

It takes more than words to win this war when there's
And it takes more than words to win this war when there's no one left who cares for us
