i said your gone today i said your gone

everything went down you thought you would fall apart you thought you were so strong you turned out you were nothing that you thought you could be and everything's so dumb cuz you thought it would be that way and now I'm fading

would you consider the fact that i
might be slightly run down from this nonsense
it was just holding me down like there's nothing from no one around
would you consider the fact that i
might be slightly run down from this nonsense

i said you're gone today yeah we all went there we thought we would fall apart we thought we were so strong it turned out we were nothing that we thought we could be
cuz we thought it would be that way and now were fading

might be slightly run down from this nonsense
it was just holding me down
would you consider the fact that i
might be slightly run down from this nonsense
it was just holding me down

chances are i will run away so,so far away from here

just give me a big black symbol you will never remember how to take all my feelings down so give me the keys to your soul

you will never remember how

might be slightly run down from this nonsense
would you consider the fact that i
might be slightly run down from this nonsense
