I will save you from your destiny I will guide you to the embrace of time.
through the shadows of the darkest day I know all you need to know about me

Against that time if ever come when I will see your damned face against that time when you will pass and you won't meet my mad gaze against that time you have to start to run more fast than you can do because you know that you deserve my angry screams upon you

Why are you saying this to me, I've given you all you need rumours and lies to your ears Something lost and something you've taken away from this life diamonds and mist for yourself

Against that time if ever come when you will stand in front of me against that time when you will cry when you'll beg for my mercy
than you can do
because you know that you deserve my angry words
upon you

I'll give you back your lies with all the hatred of my heart I'll tell you for the last time that your life is useless

You had all of myself into your hands, but you betrayed my feelings

I'll give you back your lies
with all the hatred of my heart
I'll tell you for the last time

embrace of time.

Against that time when you will lie for hundred times and over remember the time when you were shit but now you're less than nothing
than you can do
because you know that you deserve to die alone without me

with all the hatred of my heart
I'll tell you for the last time

You had all of myself into your hands, I won't forget your evil...
