It's 2 am her body laid cold, mind fighting demons
Screaming her last breath to be rescued
But in her dreams she is a lonely broken soul
No one is looking deep in enough to see
How desperate she is begging for eyes compassion
She screams once again only to hear her own echo.

Chorus

Day after day,
So many people going the same direction
No where to exit no where to stop
For the broken heart and soul
This is the highway of loneliness

In this roller-coaster life he lost his since of pride
But he ain't giving up for some better days
Season has changes better days are late
Eyes toward the sky asking how long will it be
He is reaching out for a helping hand,
But only his shadow looking his direction

Chorus

Day after day,

So many people going the same direction
No where to exit no where to stop
For the broken heart and soul
This is the highway of loneliness

They dreamed about this coming day
Where you and I will see through them
Reaching with more than words, but with heart
We are their exist of this highway of loneliness
Can we hear the thousands voices calling for us
We are their exit of this highway of loneliness.

Chorus

Day after day,
So many people going the same direction
No where to exist no where to stop
For the broken heart and soul
This is the highway of loneliness
