Tell for yourself, watch me sweat, watch me crawl Stretch me on the table, up against the wall, up against the wall
You can see for yourself but you better not say You're working four more hours every other day

See me suffer, see me pain
Must be someone else to blame
See me suffer, see me pain

More trouble at the dockyard, party's shouting at the union
Short fuses on their anger, workers in confusion Then there's the vandals of the right, they stalk the streets at night
Got someone else to fight, they got someone else to blame

See me suffer, see me pain
Must be someone else to blame
See me suffer, see me pain

You can speak for yourself for the moment is lost
But I don't wanna shout 'cause I'm counting the cost
I'm counting the cost, yes, I'm counting the cost

See me suffer, see me pain
Must be someone else to blame
See me suffer, see me pain

Must be someone else to blame
Someone else to blame
