My hate is built on grief, a lust for revenge to ease the guilt. A condition
Of helplessness where you're suffering is my only cure.
I worship the Bitterness to increase the pain and prolong the mourning. Remorse means Nothing at all my hate has blinded me.

I am what is remembered, what I do is what remains.

Dark tunes break the silence, as my fear withers I grief
my loss. The dawn
Of solitude is the end of my happiness.

I am what is remembered, what I do is what remains.
The memories will fade
Away, they will be buried in time.

I can no longer see the boundaries that keep me sane. I am all instinct now, Flesh is flesh and hate is all. No hope only bitter feelings, it's all Unreal no comprehension. I am shattered the past is gone, only hate prolongs

I am what is remembered, my malice is what remains.
