Through my private forest I wander, where there are no other beings. There Are no souls to misguide me. The silence is my clarity.
This is the place Where I decide my quest. I am all alone in my private forest.

Only myself and no one else. I've been dwelling on others. And I regret my Acts, cause no one but me know how I really feel.

Follow your voice don't be blinded by fools. Their tales are misleading
Without purity or goals.

Your stupidity impedes my thinking. I prefer my own presence. Therefore I Close my door. I'm better of self absorbed.

I rise above all the shadows from the past. I let the trees grow around me.
I am no longer blinded by compassion. A new vision has risen to my Attraction.

No longer I seek. I've found what I need. I've ended my search I have found Myself.
