One day we will have what we need
To build an extremely big neon sign
For people who don't know who we are Five guys in a band
We have the wind in our sales
Why quit when we are this close to a dream?
We have the wind in our sales
The heat is waiting for us to be turned on
To build an extremely big iron cage
For people who show us no respect
Five lives in their hands
We have the wind in our sales
Why quit when we are this close to a dream?
We have the wind in our sales
The heat is waiting for us to be turned on Laugh about the irony, we become who we tried not to be
Music falls back to second place in this commercial race
