Open waters, the calm before the storm captain yells, it's time for war jump ship now to save yourself for when war begins man nor flag remains mutiny is no longer held in high regard to the end of this flight

i swear on this forever
till the sea's last breath
taken from me

these cannons your hull,
waves break and blood spills
fires burn eyes fixed,
making driftwood of your boat battle tactics

man your stations
we wont go down
it's time for war

fires burn eyes fixed,

your body will rot here for an eternity and from this watery grave you will never rise your last breath brings air to the surface no amout of gold can buy your soul back

these cannons your hull,
your boat

your boat
your boat
