So follow me to the empty ocean
We can watch the city descend
Behind the skylight
And on our backs, we float away
And forget about the way it used to be

Tonight I fail
But I never wanted
To let you drown without me
Tonight we are the only ones
To watch it fall apart

We slide into our place
Where I can watch you swim
Don't forget my hands
Still wrapped around your neck

We fall deeper into the ground
This nights never looked so hollow
I wanted to share this with you, with you

I'll wait till it opens up again
Sit here till the water reaches our necks
Finally get to watch them
Wash away my name

Tonight I fail
But I never wanted
To let you drown without me
Without me

Open your lungs
Follow me down
Open your lungs
Follow me down

I set this off
Keep swimming, keep swimming
Oh God, I am emptier than you
