Tears run down my face just like the last
No different from yesterday

Sick from the mirror
Do these prayers, feel sincere?
The dirt never washes clear

You were good, so good
I grew to love your lies
Until I put you in the past

Love was lust until he revealed
The man behind the mask

Will the scars go away?
In this world I have no place
Will the scars go away?
In this world I have no place

Forgive me Jesus, this time I cry
I rip my heart out, to give to You

Alone it never did me any good
Hold me close, wash my mind
Destroy the me that lives inside
