the day i left you was the worst mistake i ever made was ready to become something i didn't need you dragging me down thought your love just wasn't enough my hair combed, nice shoes tied tight was ready to conquer life help unwanted i can do this on my own and then i found myself wounded tripping over myself, falling and scraping my knee sadness fills for i know i've failed why did i leave scared to go back hoping you'll take me in with open arms but also know the hurt i've caused the breeze of angel wings standing there a midst of lowers of every being tears grow and orchestra begins to play what a beautiful day, why are you alone run child it's time for you to go home wounded spirit face in the dirt i cry out for you to take me in your heart holds me close, and i look up to face this world which so scares me faith in you loneliness just seems to fade. the man once inside now a child walking in your footsteps hoping held leaves under feet from the trees of fall listening to autumn's call a deep breathe to continue on, fragile depending on you Christ carry's me the rest of the walk
