The time has come for you to sit this out
To fit inside your mold Would be to sell myself short

This ground we tread upon
we turn the pages left to right
is now filling up to our necks
We see everything

This ground we tread upon
is now filling up to our necks
We see everything

Oh, my story's growing and growing it is for my last request Don't make me feel so contradicting
There's no room for cheating and being yourself Failure leaves such a bitter taste in their mouth

And on the last hour we write so many new chapters again And on the outside where there are no surprises
This ground we tread upon
is now filling up to our necks
We see everything

Oh it's getting longer and longer come on To see it through their eyes Would bring me so much closer You can't do this night after night after night Failure leaves such a bitter taste in my mouth

Taste and see, I swear I know what's good Be still and know that they won't lie to you every single time you're facing lies

This ground we tread upon
is now filling up to our necks

This ground we tread upon
is now filling up to our necks

WE SEE, WE SEE, WE SEE EVERYTHING, WE SEE, WE SEE, WE SEE EVERYTHIIIIIIIIIIING

I know why you never take your eyes off of me
I've used my lungs for everything but breathing

I know why you never take your eyes off of me
I've used my lungs for everything but breathing

I find myself dried up in this conversation
So pull me out, pull me aside

I find myself dried up in this conversation
So pull me out, pull me aside

This ground we tread upon
we see everything

This ground we tread upon
This ground we tread upon we see.....
