How come everything
Always has its way of turning
Right back around again
Like that night when she was leaving
And not believing that this time
Her fears were all just doubts

I'm never going back
I'm over feeling sorry so just deal with that
There's nothing wrong with that
Find comfort in yourself
And know that what you have is not what you are what you have is not what you are
what you have is not what you are

I know this once felt right
But every time I walk away
I feel shut down inside
Today is no exception
And tomorrow breaks again
But I can see that this will soon be over

I'm never going back
I'm over feeling sorry so just deal with that
There's nothing wrong with that
Find comfort in yourself
And know that what you have is not what you are
What you have not what you are
What you have not what you are
What you have not what you are
What you have not what you are

I'm never going back
I'm over feeling sorry so just deal with that
There's nothing wrong with that
Find comfort in yourself
so you can deal with it

(No No No)- repeats in background

I'm never going back
There's nothing wrong with that

I'm never going back
Find comfort in yourself
And know that what you have is not what you are
