Growin' up in the USA,
There are plenty of things for me to do today.
Goin' places and seein' things,
Can never tell what tomorrow'll bring.
But there's one thing that'll never change,

Chinese truck.
I love you,
When I'm in that special Chinese mood,
There's nothing that I'd rather do
Than buy some Chinese food from you.

Your food is so great.
It should be stationed next to Heaven's Gate.
All the people that I know agree,
Wouldn't kick without MSG,
But I'd still eat it anyway,

Chinese truck.
You're the best,
You don't compare to all the rest,
I want you for my very own,
Rumor's out, let the truth be known.

Chinese truck.
I love you,
And there's nothing that I'd rather do
Than jack the truck,
What the fuck,
And worship you.

What
Should I do
With a hundred pounds of Chinese food?
Have a party, invite some friends,
Enjoy you to the very end,

Chinese truck
