Deliverance

Seeing people waste away,
paying for death,
heroin the only thing,
that they have left.

It escapes me why people try,
to fool themselves while others die.
it's up to the individual to think and make a choice, is it really worth the sorrow that soon will follow?

Think again,
don't fool yourself,
don't pay to die
in emotional hell.

A cry for help
blame yourself
already knowing
you'd ruin your health.

But even worse are those that sell,
don't pay to die in emotional hell.
