Beneath one burning world an eternal oath was revealed.
Blood had pour, no moore deaths will be healed.

There is no salvation.
Your life here has finished.
No hope for redemption.
Nothing could cure this curse.

Sharp knives peels flesh,
hot bullets falls to the ground.
Unleashed evil, people crawl for their lives,
never has the humanity faced such a tragedy.

Lured inside there, one by one, underneath the desert
sun,
the human start to become an extinct species.
She kills them off, ripped apart, one by one they disappear
daughters and sons, mothers and fathers, with blood
and flesh let them pay their betrayal
