It's only you for you, girl

Remember, remember, remember, remember (You changed my life in so many ways)
Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
(I just look back to how I used to be)

Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
(And how you dealt with me)
Would you remember, remember, remember?
(Just want to thank you for)

Just in case I never see your face again
Just in case the worst was meant to happen
Just in case tomorrow never come
There is something you should know, oh

I've given you every bit of the man I am I know at times it wasn't pretty but it was all I had I never held back, not one lil' bit and the world can attest to this
That, baby, you flipped my program upside down (Listen to me, now)

I was a hustler and player, girl, before I met you I'd drink a lil' something, hit a lil' something before I
met you
But how you made a difference, look what I've been missing
You got my life together and I thank you forever

I really used to throw a lot before I met you
But I'd do one every night and sometimes I had two
But all that done changed, my game, my frame of mind, you got it right
And I love you for life, girl, I love you for life

There was so many times I wasn't there for you
And for every one of those times I hated myself
For the way I went about it

The ups and the downs
One foot in while the other foot's out
Loving on you, loving on another
I ain't no different from any of the brothers

So, what I give to you right here, right now
In this here place, is my voice, say it out
In this here space with my heart poured out
As I state my case, as I break it down

To tell you where I'm coming from So you've seen the good you've done
So you've feel the change you've made Stay with me everyday

I was a hustler and player, girl, before I met you I'd drink a lil' something, hit a lil' something before I
met you
But how you made a difference, look what I've been
missing
You got my life together and I thank you forever

I really used to throw a lot before I met you
But I do one every night and sometimes I had two
But all that done changed, my game, my frame of
mind, you got it right
And I love you for life, girl, I love you for life

Girl, if I died tonight, before I wake
Know that you touched my life in, oh so, many ways
And sugar, if this song is all I had to give
Would you remember?

Remember, remember, remember, remember (Remember my heart, remember it was good)
Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
(Remember that I tried as long as I could)

Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
(Remember that I gave till I had nothing else)
Would you remember, remember, remember?
(Remember my voice)

I was a hustler and player, girl, before I met you I'd drink a lil' something, then hit a lil' something, before I met you
But how you made a difference, look what I've been
missing

You got my life together and I thank you forever

I really used to throw a lot before I met you
But I do one every night and sometimes I had two
But all that done changed, my game, my frame of
mind, you got it right
And I love you for life, girl, I love you for life

Remember, remember, remember, remember
Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
Would you remember, remember, remember?

Remember, remember, remember, remember
Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
Would you remember, remember, remember,
remember?
