[Intro]

See what bugs me is... A lot of people can be cold
No matter what the circumstances are. And the fact...
That you can take away the life of a child... is just...
Beyond. I don't even care what the goal was...
Or who you were trying to reach out to... it's just crazy.
It won't ever be forgotten. Khodov, I hope you're burning in Hell. And Vladimir Putin this message is for you-Vi Puct Umiriyat Dyeti!

[Chorus]

Don't you cry little one,
Soon the pain will be gone,
The rain will bring out the sun,
Remember a better day is yet to come

[Verse 1]

Imagine being a little kid, only in the third grade,
Happy and excited that, it is the first day
Little do you know, something horrible is on it's way,
Something that will really change your entire mind frame
Suddenly you see men storming up the place,
All masks, no identity, can barely see their face
Adrenaline in your body so your heart just starts to race
It's crazy how the mood just suddenly changed
Like the weather just shifted from sunny to rain,
You can't even predict what's about to take place
But it doesn't look good by the look on your little face
It almost looks like your shocked to an entire daze
You're in danger in the very place you called safe, Another home away from home you thought you'd never see the day,
Of witnessing your best friend getting shot in the face
Now the worst of worst is yet to take it's place

[Chorus]

Don't you cry little one,
Soon the pain will be gone,
The rain will bring out the sun,

Remember a better day is yet to come x2

[Verse 2]

Imagine being only about 6 years old
Just now learning that the whole world is cold
You, find yourself stuck, in the gym of your own school,
Not knowing what these men will do, not knowing what they'll pull,
Suddenly they give you orders saying to stay put,
In the hot gym and you know you don't, even think you could
Scream and cry for help, you know you think you should Then you whisper to your friend saying that you're scared,
Every time the man speaks up you cover up your ears,
'Cus every single word increases more of your fear Saying you will die if he don't like what he hears
You wait for the police you question if they really care
About you, or anyone else that you care about,
Then you hear a loud BANG a really scary sound
You start to run which almost feels like a whole mile
Until you find your sister lying dead on the ground

[Chorus]

Don't you cry little one,
Soon the pain will be gone,
The rain will bring out the sun,
Remember a better day is yet to come x4
