at the risk of sounding psychotic or a bit obsessed if you don't notice me than it's as if i don't exist 'cuz i stood inside your spotlight it was so bright it warmed my soul and now your absence leaves me cold

i know in time i will get by but right now i'm not alright right now i'm not alright

i used to think i was an independent individual but now i see to the contrary i hopelessly depend on you i need all your attention like a newborn child needs air and its mother's constant care

pardon me i'm lost you see i used to have a map i'd follow the glow of a girl i know but i lost her, now i'm trapped she didn't mean to hurt me it's not her fault, she just forgot and so i'm left here to rot
