we lie in the same bed as far apart as two could get i know that you're bored with me 'cuz you shut your eyes when i speak i want to make you happy but i wish that you would tell me what you want from me

come on teach me to love you right
'cuz baby you are my life next morning you're pouring coffee and we sit in silence while we eat i wish i could stand up and say that i dread leaving the house everyday 'cuz i fear that when i return you'll be gone tired of me always meaning right but always doing wrong

come on teach me to love you right if it takes all night no it's nothing that you say to me it's just the clues that are left you used to stay up late and wait up for me but now you're early to bed no kiss hello, no "how was your day?" no, you're fast asleep and i know as i watch you there you don't dream of me
