Welcome my darling, it's been a while
Since you've layed eyes on this place
Is it better darling, that I'm not around
As a smile strikes it's pose on your face

I can feel you looking through
And there's nothing that I can do
Yeah it's you looking through me

You seem happy darling, as the world turns it's back
To me, to you, what we had
I must move on darling or I'll fade away
All that's left is a dark silhouette

I can feel you looking through
And there's nothing that I can do
Yeah it's you looking through me

Now I stand here alone
While my mind is a mess
Yeah you stabbed through the bone
Why don't you just confess

I can feel you looking through
And there's nothing that I can do
Yeah it's you looking through me
I can feel you looking through
And there's nothing that I can do
Yeah it's you looking through me
