You always said
That I should see someone
When all I had to do was see myself
And the world was not to blame
Oh mirror, mirror don't you lie again

Riding high on board
This train of thought
I've been a passenger for way too long
Now my station falls
My destination calls
And all this baggage
Ain't no one man show

And I hope and pray for this moment
Now it comes it seems so dumb
Coz you're not there
Every time I steal that emotion
It's too late to even hesitate
Now you're gone

You were bright - ultraviolet
Sun an moon and stars
Are dark, by your side
I would joke
Every time you spoke
And now I realize that in your eyes
Laughter lies

Get it on, get it on
Is it the right time?
