Summer died and what is left's a heap
Of dream that won't come true
Depression
Misery
I know that it's
All that you can see

September fled the rain
As I'm still here, seeking all the answers
And the sky is always grey
But that's the sky that
That I have lurned to like

Was I ever satisfied?

Growing old
Getting cold
Erase the clouds and paint a sun
Remake the picture
Face the lie
When it's as cold as I

September fled the rain
As I'm still here, seeking second chances
And at the time my hand turns pale
It's been long since you forgot me

It's not worthwhile waiting here
An anorexic body's bound to fear
And it waits
And it fades

September fled the rain
Do you remember all the pain we shared?
Well, now when I'm gone
I'll be waiting for you

Was I ever satisfied?
