These boxes, packed with reminders of a better time.
These memories, you can take a few but this one's mine.

You're packing; life is calling you away.
It's maddening to try and form the words to say...

It's so hard to just let go.
But I know you know
These goodbyes are not for good.
Although it's so hard to just let go,
I know you know
These goodbyes are not for good.

Daydreaming of all the good times that we shared
You're leaving; soon you'll realize how much I cared.
Here's to hoping, wishing the best for days to come
You're going, and all's but said and all's but done.
