There's too much on my mind to say,
If I can only figure out some sort of way to let you know how it feels.

This is how it feels.

The further you go the closer we are to getting on the right foot
and it back in the door.

You never said what you really felt.

Go sing your song to somebody else.

You've lost it all.

We're watching you drown.

Get up and get out

i can't rely on a single word you've said

Get up and get out

you know i'm better off without you

What's the point of leaving if you've got no place to go?

A fist full of excuses reminds me why.

You've lost it all.

We're watching you drown.

Bite your tongue and let the water pour down.

Get up and get out

i can't rely on a single word you've said

Get up and get out

you know i'm better off, we're better off.

I won't take the blame for all your bitterness.

You brought this on yourself.
