"Dead End Lane"

Tonight I wanna go, I wanna know how to flow,
How to let go, how to lose control

Tonight I'm gonna walk the road of the pleasure domes,
Lose myself in the noise, in the neon glow

The thrill, the chill, the suspense, the thrill, the suspense, the desire Sensation most intense, so intense with my endless
supplies

Tonight I wanna go, I wanna know how to flow,
How to let go, how to lose control

Tonight I'm gonna raise my hands in the sky lose track of place and time
I'm going round round round

The thrill, the chill, the suspense, the thrill, the
suspense, the desire
Sensation most intense, so intense with my endless

All the way down I'm driving the dead end lane
Away from the life that was never the truth about us
All the way down I'm driving the dead end lane
Cause everything I once had has been taken away
So I drive all night and all the way

Now all of my desires are satisfied, now all of my tears
My lies swept aside and left behind. Far, far behind

I go deeper in the night, the other side, where I can fly.
Reach the new highs, I'm alright. Alright, tonight

The thrill, the chill, the suspense, the thrill, the
suspense, the desire
A sensation most intense, so intense with my endless
supplies.

All the way down I'm driving the dead end lane
Away from the life that was never the truth about us
All the way down I'm driving the dead end lane
Cause everything I once had has been taken away
So I drive with my best friend Charlie

With my endless supplies. I'm falling, falling through the night
