Venke Knutson
"Someone"

I made a stupid move and now you're gone
I gave you all I had
Made you strong
I built my world 'round you to prove them wrong
The walls came down and now I stumble alone
On my own

I needed someone I could die for
I needed someone to be true
I needed someone I could cry for
But where were you
When I wanted someone to be safe with
When my world was blue
I wanted someone I could live for
So where were you

The lights went out the time bad come to leave
We fought our battles with a stone
The empty room got cold
Much disbelief
And we both ended up alone

Ref.

I used to think than we were so complete
I used to think that I was never weak
But hey
What I am today

Ref.