Someone help me now and someone take control
'Cause time wasted is time needed
To make the most of what we're in here for
And we could figure this out or we could fight ourselves
Hiding six feet under, the lives we never knew about

And I never knew you to be anything real

Broadcast the news (please tell me)
Upon further review (please kill me)
You break down but you don't ask questions
You take time and your friends for granted

Here's what I came here for Here's why I'm writing you this song
I'm pouring out my heart
And maybe next time you could stop and think before you

Broadcast the news (please tell me)
Upon further review (please kill me)
You break down but you don't ask questions
You take time and your friends for granted

Over and over, the story thought over
Everything you dreamed of never got older
Tossing and turning at night
Just tell me how do you, how do you...
