Give me a moment, I'll tell you what I heard.
They're holding me hostage, To a life I've loved to learn.
The silence could kill me, no need to talk seriously.
You're kicking and screaming, I'm living and dreaming.

The holiday's not far away, so slow me down again
today.

We're all to late,
And we can't get by,
No words to say,
I wish that I could say something to get me through this.
It's to late,
But we're alright,
We'll be searching, and hoping things are gonna come out right.

I fell in love with thinking, My heart would see me
through,
But now it ends up being, I need you here with me too.
Enough thinking about last year lets live for tonight,
I'll put my hands here, holding you tight,
The holiday's not far away, so slow me down again, I say

Aside of everything that we can't control,
The goodbyes, the hard nights, and the long distance calls.
There is one thing that I can promise you, and that is that I can give you now.

Why can't you get me through this?
Why can't you get me through this?
Why can't you ?
Why can't you?
Why can't you?
