

Verse

"Earth And Stone"

Visit "Earth And Stone" on MotoLyrics.com

Staring into the sun, his eyes tearing and burning.
Thoughts of that warm Day he closed up his heart to the world. Few walked beside him, many just Passed him by. So he'll just stay numb and sit there;
quietly fall behind.

Watched a man climb a mountain, watched that man's end of time. No conversation
With the giver, his father lives only in his mind. Took a chance to see her.
Fucked up her world. He never wanted nothing.

So fucked up on the inside, too much to show. No bandage for these wounds Or the ones he cut deeper than his own. He smiles and waves from a distance.
Come in closer to see him broken. Touch the face that's true in focus.
Feel the lines he cut through time. To remember the one that he's left Behind. No chance for redemption, saw his time come and go. He wished for the Best man to save her from his spell. Conversed with Earth and Stone
"why did you leave me alone?" He Fell to his knees and he lost himself.

Watched a man climb a mountain, watched that man's
end of time. No conversation
With the giver, his father lives only in his mind. Took a chance to see her.
Fucked up her world. He never wanted nothing.

Visit Verse page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.