Thirteen, I only had a few songs to play
And big dreams to take the whole world on in a day
Oh I believe that everything that hurts has a way
To make you see in ways you'd never seen
God knows I'm a broken man
And I need him to change who I am

I want to run
With all that I have
I won't let this go
You gotta know
And I want to say
Something the world can hear
Something more
You gotta know

Some days it's hard to feel the world over me
Stand alone believing in some things I can't see
Oh I believe that everything that hurts has a way
To make you see in ways you'd never seen
God knows I'm a broken man
And I need him to change who I am

I want to run
With all that I have I won't let this go
You gotta know
I wanna say something the world can hear
Something more you gotta know
I wanna see things that I've never known
And never seen you gotta know
I want to run
With all that I have I won't let this go
