

Victory Within "Dying Within"

Visit "Dying Within" on MotoLyrics.com

Taking time to never begin, procrastination or even attempt
Feeling lies feeling deceit you live at night why you bleed in the streets
Doesn't matter how you begin without the effort, there is no decent
With our strife you never will win, you lose your life

You lose your life again, you're riding on the light
Once again an addiction you can fight
Heroin you're at an all time low, look how thin you've worn your soul
There's no way left to go in the end

You struggle now with your knees on the floor this straight jacket you knew once before
Once again you wonder why you lost more than most
Look in the sky as you see your own ghost

Once again, you're riding on the light
Once again an addiction you can fight
Heroin you're at an all time low, look how thin you've worn your soul
There's no way left to go in the end

This time you can't pretend
This time you wanted more
More then you could afford
You watched it all begin but now you watch it all come to an end

You're riding on the light
Once again an addiction you can fight
Heroin you're at an all time low, look how thin you've worn your soul
There's no way left to go in the end

Visit Victory Within page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.