Sat around watching reality warp
Like a static antenna untuned
Making fists then kicking the shit and then this
In an isolated room

What you never understood was the chains you could never remove
You were never too close that's for sure

All that's left is the stillness and the scent
Of an unmade slept in bed
And I've watched waited and then caused all the shock
When the body was pronounced dead

Send Danny this tear that I saved from my pocket that day
But don't ever point yourself as the blame

It's damn damn done
Little darling's dead
You revel in mischief
And it's out of your hands

never remove
You were never too close that's for sure

It's damn damn done
Little darling's dead...
