"Could Have Been"

No time now left to run
Everything's been said or done before
No time now left to change
There's no point in trying at my age
It doesn't matter to me
Breathe in the sky
Breathe in the air
Just feel the breeze run through your hair
And I don't want to think
And I don't want to think
I don't want to think no more

All the things that I could have been
All the places that I might have seen
All the people that I might have met
All the things that I should have said
To you
No time now for regret
If only I could just forget the past
I can but turn and close my eyes
But I know soon I'll close my mind at last
There's nothing else left for me
Memories of war
Memories of pain
Memories of running through the rain
And I don't want to think
And I don't want to think
I don't want to think no more

All the things that I could have been
All the
All the people that I might have met
All the things that I should have said
To you
