There used to be a time, way back in the day, when Skins and Punx would stand up to whatever's in their way they had to stick together thru the thick and thin, youth vs. authority until the bitter end, that feelins' coming back again, the revolution from within, what you see is what you get! with '77 threat! The sight of Hooligans and the sound of heavy boots used to be battle cry of angry tattoo'd youth, the street kids on the riot squad were nothing to ignore, support your local fuckin' scene means nothing anymore! That feelins' coming back again, that revolution from within, what you see is what you get! with '77 threat!
