When the love you've given is brazen to your arms and to your lungs One night

Baby come on and turn it around

You look so fine You made me lose my mind for love on my side But your numbers don't add right they keep me up at night for love on my side

Will the love you're giving drive us to a wide out open space When that ceiling loosens up little lockets open destiny for life

Baby come on and turn it around

You look so fine You made me lose my mind for love on my side You're going to lead this time Building it pine by pine for love

And the love you've given takes the morning seat right next to you Tonight
