Maybe it's today and maybe we should wait
And see what happens for tomorrow
Cause tomorrow's our last break and we can't

So I can't see everything you did to me
And if you won't wait
I'll wait for you, wait for you

Can't you say, won't you say
That everything is better now
Can't you say, won't you say
That everything is better now

I think I'm breaking down
I can't tell which is ground
Which is sky and which way I'm falling
You turned this all around on me

So I can't see everything you did to me
And if you won't wait I'll wait for you, wait for you

Can't you say won't you say
That everything is better now
Can't you say, won't you say
That everything is better now
Can't you say, won't you say
That everything is better now
Can't you say, won't you say
That everything is better now
Can't you say, won't you say
That everything is better now
And was wrong to feel different (can't you say)
And I was wrong to feel different (won't you say)
And I was wrong to think everything is better now
(everything is better now)
And was wrong to feel different
And I was wrong to feel different
And I was wrong to think everything is better now
