I still remember your skin
And how it took me in
I want to feel the temptation again
You kill with every pause
The drama your applause
I can sense complication again

Everytime you think of me
You'll know when you're
At the end of your rope
And there's no one left to hold
When its all been said and done
I'll still be the one

I'll testify the truth
But don't become removed
Don't let me down
Don't let me down

Everytime you think of me
You'll know when you're
At the end of your rope
When its all been said and done
I'll still be the one

Everytime you think of me
You'll know when you're
At the end of your rope
When its all been said and done
I'll still be the one

When you're at the end of your rope
When its all been said and done
I'll still be the one
