(The Nylons)

There's a light coming from a window and it shines down on the street.
There are some guys standing on the corner singing that good old harmony.
And the light coming from the window shines on a street-corner-symphony put on a laugh, put on a string and making that good old harmony
I'm singing a soul to soul - brother to brother
- a capella - sounds good 10 me.
I'm singing a soul to soul - brother to brother
- a capella - sounds good te me.
I just want it understood boys about a bookie to the neighbourhood and there standing under the light, I just see them every night singing that good old a capella sound so sweet,

put on a laugh - put on a string,
making that good eid harmony
I'm singing a soul te soul - brother to brother
- a capella - sounds good te me.
I'm singing a soul to soul - brother to brother
- a capella - sounds good te me.
Well I turn out the light, say good bye to another light I'm gonna rest my weary head, put my bones away to bed.
I'm gonna get on my knees and pray to the Lord, give me just a one more day
oho Lord - hear my plea, this music means so much te me.
I'm singing a soul te soul - brother to brother
- a capella - sounds good te me.
I'm singing 5 soul te soul - brother to brother
- capella - sounds good 10 me.
