Gone tomorrow, back from yesterday
But in my head, I pretend, then I look away
I've gone, far too long, wishing somethings
Were just right from wrong, I seemingly,
Understand what life's made of
And I follow the ways, and fury tries to stay
Of a world reciting in the days,
I conquered the other man
And I'm just the same, so pure and simple again,
Look the other way, love, tomorrow will lift you above

I've lived, I loved you, wasting tomorrow
Trying to make it now, just trying to make it now
We've all said loves been, thrown in the ages,
Lying naked now, I'm lying on the ground

And I'm with you, back from yesterday,
But in my head, I descend, and then I look away
It's all plain and pure, just like before
Just a matter of time, your life completing mine
And your finding the same, yes the shame you left behind,
Have an open mind, swallow your selfish pride
So beat it from me, and now you're finally free,
Turn your back and run, love,
Tomorrow will lift you above

I've lived, I loved you, wasting tomorrow
Trying to make it now, just trying to make it now
We've all said loves been, thrown in the ages,
Lying naked now, I'm lying on the ground

Hold me now
Cus I'm not so proud
I've followed you for way too long somehow
Hate me now
I've been here for too long
I've swallowed all my pride and now I'm gone

I've lived, I loved you, wasting tomorrow
Trying to make it now, just trying to make it now
We've all said loves been, thrown in the ages,

Lying naked now, I'm lying on the ground
