What if the end is just the beginning?
And what if the stars were meant to be reached?
And what if your heart was made to be broken?
You've nothing to give, that's all that you need

You are the one who's breaking my heart all over again
Nothing I do or say can change your mind
You are the one who's given me more than I could
repay
You lived your life so I could live mine

My heart has done all my hands never dare to Fooling my mind to believe we were free
Love came in like a whisper screaming
Your guilt and your shame were meant for me

You are the one who's breaking my heart all over again
Nothing I do or say can change your mind
You are the one who's given me more than I could
repay
You lived your life so I could live mine, hey

We are free to fail, we are free to fail
We are free to fail now

You are the one who's taken my heart all over again
You are the one who's given me life
You are the one who's given me more than I could
repay
You lived your life so I could live mine, hey

We are free to fail now, we're starting over
We are free to fail now, we're starting over
We are free to fail now, we're starting over
We are free to fail now, yeah
We are free to fail now, we are free to fail now
