I'd be a millionaire in a week or two
I'd be doing what I love and loving what I do
If I could make a living out of loving you
Early every morning when the sun comes up
I'm punching that clock on the wall
Breaking my back just to make a buck
Wishing I was in your arms
If I could make a living out loving you
I'd be a millionaire in a week or two
I'd be doing what I love and loving what I do
If I could make a living out of loving you
I could work all day and feel right at home
Loving that 8 to 5
And never have to leave you here alone
When I'm working overtime
If I could make a living out loving you
I'd be a millionaire in a week or two
I'd be doing what I love and loving what I do
If I could make a living out of loving you
If I could make a living out loving you
I'd be a millionaire in a week or two
I'd be doing what I love and loving what I do
If I could make a living out of loving you
If I could make a living out loving you
I'd be a millionaire in a week or two
I'd be doing what I love and loving what I do
If I could make a living out of loving you
