

Wall Kingston

"The Party Goes On 425"

Visit "The Party Goes On 425" on MotoLyrics.com

Yesterday was such a fine day for me to live

Yesterday everything was in my head in one(*) piece(^peace)

I had my time to lie down and just to wonder 'round

I had my time to go nto the system of sounds and I think it over

No one(*) can keep this time from running out

No one(*) can keep this time from running out it's meant to be wasted(^tasted) the party goes on

One() day I'll finish everything that I have begun one() day I'll explain, Oh yes, and you will understand (stand under?) work now and rest later, rest now and work later on?

one(*) day is someday but now I will have to go on before it's over

"Life is a party isn't my friend or what do you think?

Are we here just fooling each other or are we giving good entertainment for each other what do you think?

It's a big, big, big adventure and it's getting to be so groovy, just lay it all out.

It's all there you know, it's hiding inside of you and if you are keeping it hidden here...or what do you think

And we're all in it together so don't spoil it with your stupid atmosphere

and you're the only one(*) to blame you know

.. or what do you think... or do you stink?

In the Mirrorland

The word is the game and the game is the word the word is the sword to make the worlds law the s in the word makes the word a sword and the S in the sword makes the word fall the word with the s makes the wordsorder to use the wordsword in the s-order the L in the word makes the wordsorder cause the L is the law from the wordholder the law of the s makes the word a sword the sword without the s makes the worldwar

Visit Wall Kingston page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.