What is it that you want from me
I've told you thousands of times the way that I feel
Why do you have to be so insecure
When you know that my whole world spins around you

And if you don't know how much I love you
Then you will never know
And if you don't know how much I need you
Then you don't know shit
You don't know shit

I know that I don't say I love you too much
I'd rather show you than fill you up with words
Words turn senseless after awhile
I'm giving you all this open your eyes

And if you don't know how much I love you
Then you will never know
And if you don't know how much I need you
Then you don't know shit
You don't know shit

You drive me crazy with the things that you say
You take for granted all I've done for you
Stop playing games like this
Cause I'm giving you my heart
This is more than you will ever get

And if you don't know how much I love you
Then you will never know
And if you don't know how much I need you
Then you don't know shit
You don't know shit

And if you don't know how much I love you
Then you will never know
And if you don't know how much I need you
Then you don't know shit
You don't know shit
